NURY VITTACHI

努雷·维塔奇

Nury Vittachi is one of Asia's most widely published authors, and emeritus chairman of Asia-Pacific's biggest association of writers.

Vittachi started his journalism career on the Morning Telegraph in Sheffield in the north of England before moving to London's Fleet Street, then to Hong Kong, where he wrote the column "Lai See" and "Spice Trader" for the South China Morning Post until 1997. Although remembered mainly for humour and affectionate take on cross-cultural clashes, the column was often hard-hitting, and regularly received writs. He is also worked as a journalist with regular slots in many media, including BBC, CNN and NBC.

Vittachi's writings have been published by many of the world's biggest publishers, including Penguin Random House, Scholastic, John Wiley Inc., and St. Martin's Press. He has written more than 40 books, ranging from fiction to non-fiction, and educational children's books to literary novels for adults, several of which have been published internationally in multiple languages.

In 2005, he attended the Vogel prize ceremony, an award for unpublished manuscripts in Australia. His children book The First Of Everything has also awarded Best Education Title by Singapore Book Publishers Association.

As a lecturer at the digital entertainment department in Hong Kong Polytechnic University, he trains authors, screenwriters, animators and game designers. He lives in Hong Kong with his English wife Mary and their three adopted Chinese children.

努雷·维塔奇是亚洲发行量最大的作家之一，也是亚太区最大的作家协会的名誉主席。

在搬到伦敦之前，维塔奇在英国北部谢菲尔德的《早晨电讯报》开始了他的新闻生涯。后来移居香港的他，为《南华早报》撰写多年的《利是》和《Spice Trader》专栏。他因对文化冲击及时事的嘲讽和冷幽默成名，也引起了广泛的讨论，亦曾为许多知名媒体（包括BBC，CNN和NBC）定期撰稿。

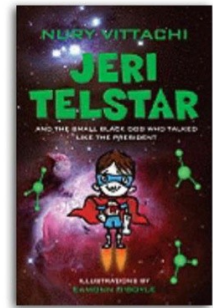

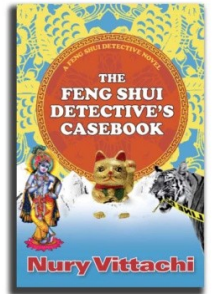

他的著作被各大出版社出版，当中包括了企鹅兰登书屋、学乐集团、约翰·威利公司和圣马丁出版社等。他撰写了四十多本书，从小说类、非小说类，再到儿童读物及文学类，种类丰富多样，其中几本被翻译成多种语言在国际上多种语言出版。

2005年，维塔奇参加了澳洲国家文学奖。2019年，他的童书《The First of Everything》亦被新加坡图书出版商协会授予最佳教育奖。

他与英国妻子玛丽及其三个领养的孩子一起现居于香港。身为香港理工大学数码娱乐系的讲师，他培训了无数作家、编剧、动画师和游戏设计师。
